

Scenario

You are a student who is attending an online class. You find it difficult to keep up with every assignment that is handed, given that you are supposed to do so completely on your own. You decide to download an app that would help you not only to remind you of assignments, but to keep in contact with your classmates and professor.

Tasks

1. Join a class and attend an online lecture.
2. Start a private chat with your instructor.
3. Set a reminder to complete and turn in an assignment for a specific class.

Results

The testing went well! No glitches or technical difficulties were reported.

Things to Improve Upon

- Make it so that users can customize when they will be reminded of a classwork's due date instead of the default option of every day until it is due.
- A lot of the text and buttons are cluttered; they need to be spread out more.
- Create an option to access and use the text chat while also viewing the instructor's shared screen.

Things to Keep

- The feature to customize how notifications look depending on what class the assignment is for is very neat!
- The menus and portals are very easily accessible.
- The option for one-on-one direct messaging is a helpful tool.
